WILCOX & GIBBS SEWING MACHINE.
We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine, which renders it superior to any other in use:

It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear;

It is entirely noiseless;

A patented device prevents its being turned backward;

The needle cannot be set wrong;

Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine.

It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1863. For particulars, enquire of

The Wonderful Lake in Southern Oregon
J. B. Sprague, who has recently visited the wonderful "Sunken Lake" in Southern Oregon, communicates the following account of this great curiosity to the Jacksonville Sentinel:

Upon rising the slope bounding the lake the first impression made upon your mind is one of disappointment. It does not come up to your expectations, but this is only momentary. A second look and you begin to comprehend the majestic beauties of the scenery spread out before you, and as you sit down on the brink of the precipice and feast your eyes on the awful grandeur, your thoughts wander back thousands of years to the time when, where now is a placid sheet of water there was a lake of fire, throwing its cinders and ashes to a vast distance in every direction. The whole surroundings prove this lake to be the crater of an extinct volcano. The appearance of the water in the basin, as seen from the top of the mountain, is that of a vast circular sheet of canvass upon which some painter had been exercising his art. The color of the water is blue, but in very many different shades, and like the colors in variegated silk, continually changing. Now a spot will be dark blue, almost approaching black, in the next moment it will change to a very pale blue, and it is this continually changing from one shade to another. I cannot account for this changeableness, as the sky was perfectly clear, and it could not have been caused by any shadows; there was, however, a gentle breeze, which caused a ripple of the waters; this may account for it.

At first sight a person would not estimate the surface of the water to be more than two or three hundred feet below the summit of the surrounding bluffs, and it is only after a steady look, almost perpendicularly down into the water, that you begin to comprehend the distance. In looking down into the lake the vision seems to stop before reaching the bottom, and to use a common expression you have to look twice before you see the bottom.

Heretofore it has been thought by those who have visited the lake, that it was impossible to get to the water, and this was also my impression at first sight, and I should have been contented to remain on the summit, and view its beauties from that point, without attempting to get to the water, but for Sergeant Stearns and Mr Ford, who, after gazing awhile from the top, disappeared over the precipice, and in a few minutes were at the bottom, near the water's edge, where no human being ever stood before. Their shouts induced Mr. Coats and myself to attempt the feat, which is in fact only perilous in imagination. A spring of water bursts out of the mountain near the top, on the side where we were, and by following down the channel which the water has made, a good footing may be established all the way down. In all probability, this is the only place in the whole circumference of the lake where the water is accessible, although Sergeant Stearns clambered around the edge of the lake for a short distance, and ascended to the summit by a different route from the one we descended, yet he does not think he could go down where he came up. The water in the lake is clear as crystal, and about the same temperature with the well water in Rogue River valley. We saw no fish of any kind, nor even insects in the water; the only thing we saw that indicated that there are fish in the lake was a kingfisher. In ascending, I measured the distance as well as I could, from point to point, by the eye, and conclude that it is from seven to eight hundred feet perpendicular from the water to the summit of the bluff. The lake seems to be very nearly circular, and is from seven to eight miles in diameter; and except at two or three points, the bluff is about the same altitude. Near the western shore of the lake is an island, about one half mile in diameter, upon which there is considerable timber growing. The island is not more than one quarter of a mile from the western shore of the lake, and its shape is a frustrum of a cone; the top [illegible] to be [illegible], and I think there is a small crater in the summit of the island. I think a path could be made from the summit to the water's edge, at the western edge of the lake; for the [illegible] appears to be entirely pumice stone at that point, and to slope to the water's edge at a less angle than any place else around the lake; at this point also, a boat could be let safely down to the water by a rope.

I do not know who first saw this lake, nor do I think it should be named after the discoverer. Sergeant Stearns and Peyton Ford are the first white men who ever reached its waters, and if named after any person, should be named for them; but as I do not believe a more majestic sheet of water is to be found upon the face of the globe, I propose the name of "Majesty." It will be visited by thousands hereafter, and some person would do well to build upon its banks a house where the visitors could be entertained, and to keep a boat or boats upon its waters, that its beauties might be seen to a better advantage.

F. B. SPRAGUE

DISORDER IN MISSISSIPPI.—The Nashville Press has the following:

A gentleman who has just returned from Holmes county, Mississippi, gives a dark picture of the condition of affairs there. A former citizen of the county returned there to get a large quantity of cotton which he had stored away. He found on inquiry, that one of the most respectable physicians and planters in the neighborhood had confiscated the most part of it—because it was owned by a Yankee, i. e. a Union man. An arrest and confinement in prison by the military authority soon made the thief disgorge part of the stolen property. He still lies in jail. The rest of the cotton, some sixty-thousand bales, was burned by the citizens as soon as they learned the owner had come for it. The people there are more violently rebellious than ever. They take the amnesty oath and then curse the Unionists and the Government more furiously than ever. It is a common thing to hear them remark: "Well, have you taken the oath?" "Yes, and I am a bigger rebel by a long ways than I ever was."

A merchant recently took out over ten thousand dollars worth of goods to one of the adjoining counties. He had hardly opened his goods when he was visited by a small party of citizens disguised, some of whom he recognized as his neighbors, who robbed him of every dollar's worth of goods. The poor merchant went to the nearest post and procured a guard of forty soldiers to arrest the guerillas. The rebel citizens rallied to the number of over one hundred, bushwhacked our soldiers and forced them to retreat. The bushwhackers then arrested the merchant, stripped him of his boots and hat, watch, and fifteen hundred dollars in money, and then fired fifteen ballets through his body and left him a mangled corpse. We apprehend that something severer than an amnesty oath or a franchise act is needed to punish a population so barbarous and bitterly disloyal as these Mississippi outlaws.

GENERAL GRANT AT QUEBEC.—A Quebec dispatch of August 10th says:

While here, General Grant spoke without reserve to several persons on the Mexican question. He said that he had placed one hundred thousand men on the Rio Grande as an army of observation, and that the French would have to leave Mexico peaceably if they chose, and forcibly if they refused. The situation in Mexico he looked upon as one which had been created by the rebellion, and the rebellion would really not be overcome until Maximilian was compelled to depart and the Mexican people allowed to organize a Government without foreign intervention. With regard to the relations between the United States and England, he did not think the present friendly state would be disturbed unless complications ensued by reason of England mixing herself up with France in the Mexican question.

THE ALABAMA.—The London correspondent of the New York Times says that the demands for the surrender of the officers and crew of the Alabama, which has been so pointedly refused by Earl Russell, has been renewed by Mr. Adams in terms so decided that the Palmerston Government is sorely perplexed.

Lord Brougham is very anxious to have the Cuban slave trade stopped. But he was not at all anxious to have the rebels fail in their attempt to establish an empire with slavery as the chief corner stone.

The Radical Error

In [illegible] the physical scien[illegible] which though [illegible] with truth [illegible] Their forms vary the same as do all other mutable things but their essence or substance remains unchanged. Their details alter and the phenomena which they present at one time or period are apt [illegible] quite unlike those which we witness at another. By studying their generic character we may so far inform ourselves in relation to their qualities as to be able to detect them whenever they appear. When they are viewed historically [illegible] that the connections may be traced out between their present forms and the appearances they have before exhibited they may be best understood. There is always some fixed center or and which they are [illegible] which they are [illegible]. Of the species of error there are comparatively few. It is this multitudinous [illegible] which perplex and confound mankind. These types [illegible] and [illegible] political character. They are perpetually recurring in some form or other and though they may for a time hide their heads when their absurdity and falseness are strongly shown they are sure to reappear. One of the highest triumphs of reason and sagacity is to point out from whence these vagaries come and whither they are going. For example the nature and tendency of the philosophy of Thomas Hobbes were clearly shown both by Robert Hall and Sir James Mackintosh [illegible] those two last named [illegible] distinguished men without knowledge of the other published a book in which the former said [illegible] Hobbist is the only consistent persecutor [illegible] while the latter remarked The principles of Hobbism terminate in persecution. Here were two men who had thoroughly mastered the error they set out to expose. With so perfect an insight into its origin character and tendencies they could not have been deceived at any subsequent time by its presentation in another form.

The remarks we have just made may have application to many of the political errors that are rife in our country. All the unnational views and ideas which a considerable portion of our people entertain may be traced to a single radical error. True this error appears in an infinitude of forms, but these are no more than so many offshoots from the parent stem. Some push their erroneous ideas to a greater and others to a less extreme, some take the doctrine on which they build their political faith in the widest latitude of its meaning, while others modify it to so considerable an extent that their opinions scarcely seem at all infected by the error. But in all cases the seed of the error is the same. When men assume as a premise that perfect sovereignty is an attribute of each separate State and that the General Government does not, of its own right and by reason of its very existence, possess supreme power, they take a position which is so glaringly false that while it is adhered to, nothing like correct ideas of the real properties of our Government can be acquired.

Here is the root of the error. Whatever shape it may assume under the manipulations of polemics, it is still intrinsically the same. The disputations may present it in an infinite variety of ways, but it will be recognizable still. State rights, except in subordination to the General Government in the manner which the Constitution, properly interpreted, prescribes have only an imaginary existence. No one will deny that the States have rights, but no one without arguing absurdly can claim that they have any of the real, distinguishing qualities of sovereignty. This is the ground on which the errorists must be met. With almost unmatchable assiduity they contend for, and inculcate the mischievous and false doctrine which lies at the foundation of all the difficulties that have beset the life of the nation. Their publications teem with these erroneous ideas. Their fallacies should be exposed as often as they present them, just as antidotes are taken whenever it is desired to counteract the effects of a lethal poison.

AN ENGLISH PICTURE.—We take the following from Blackwood's Magazine, describing the present condition of England:

"Austria will enter into no commercial treaty with us. France is outstripping us in those very fabrics in which but a few years ago, we beat the whole world. And not France only, but Belgium likewise, bids fair to become henceforth the source whence we shall derive our steam machinery, as we are now getting it from our friends across the channel! Meanwhile we are eating dirt day after day, in order to propitiate, if we can, the wrath of the Americans, and looking back with vain regret on opportunities presented and thrown away of delivering ourselves and our children after us, from all ground of apprehension in that quarter. The war in New Zealand drags its full length along. The army and navy cost us immense sums without anything to show they are worth the outlay. Notoriously, we have neither cannon for our batteries, ships of war, nor firearms in the hands of our troops capable of contending on equal terms with those of other nations. We cannot go on thus much longer without suffering disasters at home and abroad, the very thought of the possible occurrences of which may well fill us with dismay."

This is truly a most humiliating confession for a power which once boasted of wielding an influence over all the world. No statements which others have made of Britain's weakness and decline equal those put forth by her own public press every day. She is "looking back with vain regret on opportunities presented and thrown away." That is to say, she feels that she ought to stepped up behind America and valiantly brained her with her mace while she was struggling desperately with confronting foes. How very Christian like it would have been for pious England to have taken the opportunity of delivering herself from all ground of apprehension in this quarter!" Why did she not undertake that very justifiable work of precaution? Obviously for the reason that she was not and never will be able to go to war with a first class power again. She may prate about her "humanity" and her sense of justice but the mournful truth [illegible] she was too impotent to try to destroy us. When was she known before to keep her meddlesome finger out of other people's business. The [illegible] hearted Pitt is not now at the head of her affairs, and the warlike England of former years has not now the power to do what her old ambition might urge her to undertake. Therefore she wisely, but regretfully left us alone.

GEN. LEE IS A NEW ROLE.—That gallows deserving traitor Robert E. Lee on the occasion of his recent appointment to the Presidency of Washington College, Virginia, wrote a letter saying that "it is the duty of every citizen in no way to oppose the laws or policy of the Government and that older persons ought particularly to set for the young an example of submission to authority. Pity that the [illegible] traitor had not thought of this about five years ago. For the old wretch to counsel submission to the authority which he tried so long break, [illegible] now the most seemly of [illegible]. Who does not know that he would violate lawful authority again if he supposed he could be successful and secure himself against punishment.

George S Ladd has been appointed Superintendent of the California State Telegraph Company, vice James Gamble resigned. Mr Ladd was formerly Secretary of the Company.

[SPECIAL [illegible] TO THE OREGONIAN]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 8

Texas News

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Meteor from New Orleans brings dates to September 1st. The papers contain the following: Governor Hamilton, of Texas, has called the necessary steps to call a Convention.

Judge Burnett, President of the Republic of Texas has [illegible] to Washington to make an appeal in behalf of Jefferson Davis at the request of nearly all of whom struggled for the Independence of Texas.

A Houston letter to the La Belle says the opening of the port of Galveston gives vigor or life to every branch of trade. All the [illegible] have left [illegible] satisfaction [illegible] prosperity for the State is [illegible].

News from Gen. Connor

[illegible] The overland telegraph from [illegible] working order. No Indians are on the route. No further trouble from that source is anticipated. News is expected daily of a battle between Gen. Connor's forces and the Indians on or near Big Horn river a branch of the Yellowstone.

Another Railroad Collision

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. The passenger train which left Philadelphia yesterday morning collided with a freight train from New York on the Camden and Amboy Railroad. Several persons were badly injured, none mortally.

Explosion near Nashville

NASHVILLE, Sept. 8.—An explosion occurred today on the North Western Railroad. The train consisted of about 8 cars. There were near 200 passengers aboard. The foremost cars contained powder, shot and shell. It is supposed sparks from the locomotive communicated through the cracks in the cars, causing the explosion. Seven persons were killed and nearly all more or less injured. The cars were all blown to pieces except two in the rear. The engine was totally wrecked. The concussion was terrific and shook buildings in the town like an earthquake.

The Militia of Mississippi

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. A letter from President Johnson supporting Provisional Governor Sharkey in his call for the organization of militia in Mississippi and setting aside Gen. Slocum's order forbidding such an organization is published. The President's main reason is to induce people to come forward in defense of the State and Federal Governments. He says if there is any move to an insurrectionary character made by such organization, the military will be there to suppress it upon its first appearance.

South American News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Times correspondence from Caracas says that E. D. Culver, our Minister, has obtained from the Venezuelan Government a convention for the settlement of all American claims. The Government by this means has obtained ten years for payment, except in some cases of trivial amounts, which to be arranged forthwith. Gen. Falcon, who is at the head of affairs remains constantly at the capital. The season thus far has been unusually good. The crops are very full, particularly the coffee, cocoa and sugar.

The Fenians.

The Times' correspondent at Dublin Ireland, says Fenianism is at last spreading where it can do most good or evil. Agents have been in Ireland and in an indescribably short space of time have created a most terrible excitement throughout the entire Kingdom. The greatest alarm prevails among the priesthood, the majority of whom, though opposed to English rule, denounce from the pulpit the Fenian Brotherhood. The secret of their opposition lies in the fact that the order alienates the people from the priesthood. They favor any movement against England, either moral or physical, but it must, they say, originate with them and be guided by them. We now hear of drilling all over the country in some places by squads and in others by entire regiments. The constabulary here have had a hard time of late. The authorities have in many instances sent them out in places where the Fenians are drilling. They are kept closely on the watch, but it is seldom they meet with their enemy. Only three collisions have thus far taken place, one of them resulting in loss of life. The young men in Dublin have clubbed together and subscribed money, and as they can't afford to go to the country and encamp every day, they have hired halls, where they are taught the military drill.

The constabulary here are aware of these secret assemblies, but either dare not or will not interfere with them, and pretend not to know the localities. Our friends in the United State's may now look for some practical work surely.

General Items.

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—Ex-Governor John Page died this morning at his residence, Haverhill, New Hampshire.

The freedmen give some trouble by violating contracts and leaving the planters at the commencement of the picking season.

The Mobile Tribune says the town of Marietta-ville is one mass of ruins. The greater part of those who dwelt there in happiness are now homeless, almost hopelessly so. It is the same with the entire country from Atlanta to Chattanooga.

A Macon, Georgia, correspondent of the Augusta Transcript says: Judging from the number taking the amnesty oath in that country, nearly the usual vote will be polled at the coming election. Nearly all the white troops have been removed from Macon. The city is comparatively quiet, with but few offenses amongst the troops.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Grand Jury came into the Court of General Sessions to day and presented twelve indictments against Ketchum, charging him with larceny and forgery. Ketchum will be soon called upon to plead to the charges.

The first National Bank on the Pacific Coast will be authorized for Portland, Oregon.

The Costa Rica from Aspinwall August 31st, brings $338,000 in specie. Much needless excitement has prevailed at Panama, concerning revolutionary movements in the interior which it appears results in nothing. The present government may be overthrown, but there is no danger of an outbreak in the city. Both appear afraid to fight. Some excitement has been caused by the government appropriating two American vessels for transportations. The American Consul had blundered into giving them papers to trade on the coast, when they had no right to such documents. The steamer Dewel arrived with troops for San Francisco, on August 25th, and the conduct of the troops on landing was disgraceful. The S. R. Spaulding also arrived with troops on the 30th.

From Central America the only important item is that Barrios, Ex President of Salvador, is on trial, with a likelihood of being convicted and shot in violation of the agreement to not take his life given to Nicaragua when he was given up.

The veritable war horse of the rebel chief Stonewall Jackson may now be seen in Newport. It is a noble animal and makes a fine appearance in the streets, as it doubtless did when leading to the charge against our loyal armies. The steed is the property of George Francis Train, who has a summer cottage on Kay street.

VALUE OF ARIZONA.—A soldier writing from Tucson Arizona says the whole Territory is not worth the cost of surveying it.

This is all very well, but we shall be surprised [illegible] any number of people willing to take the risk [illegible] hundred miles by stage, through a country [illegible] at a cost of $85, when they can well [illegible] their purpose by taking the Columbia river [illegible] Fare at this time is $30 by stage from [illegible] to Umatilla, from Umatilla to Portland $15 [illegible] Any person who will take stage from [illegible] to reach the Sacramento river, if they desire to [illegible] can be accomplished [illegible] at a total expense of $45, and the time saved [illegible] they be able to go through by stage to the [illegible] by the [illegible] would admit of their [illegible] meals at California prices [illegible] by giving them an easy and [illegible] conveyance. We are at a loss to know the price [illegible] as stated above. We cannot state just [illegible] prices [illegible]

Wells, Fargo & Co. — The people of all new sections [illegible] a great deal to Wells, Fargo & Co. for the [illegible] they their express to hear from the outside [illegible] mail facilities can be established in [illegible] become suddenly peopled through the [illegible] of gold, and opened up to the commercial and [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co. send their [illegible] ahead and become the medium through [illegible] of millions is transacted [illegible] are established this express continues [illegible] of communication for years [illegible] greater, but there is no uncer[illegible] the matter. Just now Wells, Fargo & Co. [illegible] to depend upon for obtaining our ex[illegible] in this valley. We could not hear [illegible] or any interior town in the Inland [illegible] not for them, and we are greatly indebted [illegible] A community like this can appre[illegible] & Co. even at the expense of a few [illegible] which they have contributed, and are still [illegible] daily, to support.

[illegible] Route to Fort Colville. — Lieut. Wm. M. [illegible] A. Q. M. at Fort Colville writing to Captain [illegible] A. Q. M., Fort Vancouver, recommends [illegible] from White Bluffs to intersect the [illegible] from Palouse Landing to Fort Colville as [illegible] advantage to the Government in shipping [illegible] to that post. Persons who have traveled [illegible] with heavily loaded teams quite lately, repre[illegible] as being a very good, natural road, which only [illegible] a small outlay of labor and money [illegible] for freighting. That [illegible] wood, water and grass are abundant along [illegible] can always reach White Bluffs [illegible] reach Wallula, when it often happens [illegible] reach Palouse on account of the low stage of [illegible]

[illegible] District. — We learn from parties [illegible] district, in the Cascade range near this [illegible] of twenty ledges have been lo[illegible] Foley and Cranston made the discov[illegible] the Gibbs and Tracy ledges. Some very [illegible] of gold and silver bearing quartz having [illegible] from the Gibbs lode and as high as one dollar [illegible] cents to the pan has been obtained from [illegible] decomposed quartz, found in the same lode [illegible] is in on the ledge some twenty feet, all [illegible] shows a very fair ledge. The Gold [illegible] only required a proper expenditure of cap[illegible] to make it a permanent and valuable [illegible]

[illegible] — The steamer Orizaba left for San [illegible] Saturday, at 1 o'clock P. M., going via Victo[illegible] a large number of passengers, a small [illegible] treasure, sent by parties as follows:

[illegible] & Co	$225 000
[illegible]	50 000
[illegible] Bros	45 000
[illegible]	15 000
[illegible] & Co.	9,900

[illegible] Sale. — We call special attention to the sale of [illegible] to-day at 10 A. M. at the Auction Rooms [illegible] & Co. Call and see them. They are all O. K.

A New Agricultural Paper. — We have been [illegible] a prospectus of a new agricultural paper [illegible] issued weekly at Salem, the first number to [illegible] in the first of January next. The paper [illegible] be called the "Oregon Plowman," and will [illegible] published by E. M. Waite, a gentleman long [illegible] known in Oregon. It will be devoted to the in[illegible] terests of Agriculture, the Mechanic Arts and [illegible] Stock Growing, and will furnish local and gene[illegible] to interest all classes. The [illegible] will be exhibited at the State Fair and [illegible] subscriptions solicited. The terms will be three dollars per year.

The Red Bluff, (Cal.) Independent, heretofore [illegible] semi weekly, will in future be published as [illegible] paper. The Independent went with all [illegible] might for the Bolters and Copperheads in the [illegible] in its county, and this confused jum[illegible] of place-hunters and traitors were decently [illegible] by the true Union men. The Independ[illegible] "demoralized" by defeat as well [illegible] the impure contagion of its recent associa[illegible] tions.

The [illegible] of Westminster, whose income is [illegible] at $10,000 a day, has been much berat[illegible] for his mean and penurious spirit. But he has [illegible] a generous thing. He has given a pub[illegible] park, worth $250,000, to Chester, England [illegible] of Chester, to show their gratitude [illegible] to elect his eldest son and heir, Earl [illegible], to Parliament free of expense.

General Pope. — Of all the officers who dur[illegible]ing the late war suffered unjustly on account of the delinquencies of others, General Pope stands first. That personation of timidity and irresolu[illegible]tion, McClellan, notwithstanding his im[illegible]pudence [illegible] was able [illegible] to shift all the blame for the failures around Washington in 1862 from his own shoulders where it ought to have rested, on to [illegible] General Pope. The [illegible] of time have now placed the two men where they respectively belong. The mili[illegible]tary reputation of McClellan vanished long ago, that of General Pope is appreciated and acknowl[illegible]edged. The St. Louis Democrat, speaking of General Pope's late promotion, says:

> The losing Virginia campaign, the testimony of one of the ablest Generals of the East and the reports of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, have signally vindicated the military character of General Pope. [illegible] maintained [illegible] the most desperate [illegible] of the [illegible] from the [illegible] and [illegible] Washington, with [illegible] the [illegible] of a [illegible] command he [illegible] enough [illegible] though [illegible] saved the National Capital [illegible] In the then almost frenzied condition the public mind saw only the positive disaster [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] General Pope [illegible] have crushed a commander of less genius, but against which he achieved a decided and invaluable, though nega[illegible]tive success. We remember with satisfaction that ours was among the voices raised at that day in deprecation of the cloud of [illegible]
> The assignment of General Pope to division command in the West has been [illegible] by [illegible] the [illegible] of Major General by brevet in the regular United States Army. General Pope was before, with the exception of McDowell, all [illegible] a Brigadier in the Regular Army, having so [illegible] He now has a rank [illegible] which [illegible] services have been so valuable to the country.
> We think that this brevet would have come with bet[illegible]ter grace after General Pope's Virginia campaign, the conduct of which was most earnestly approved at the time by the President, the Secretary of War and by General Halleck, then General-in-Chief. But we are glad that the Government has recognized, although tardily, the worth of one of the ablest and most earnest officers in the service.
> We learn that Pope's brevet, which is for gallant and meritorious service during the war, dates back to March 13, 1865, so that he ranks General [illegible] recently breveted, and is second only to General Meigs — the three being the only officers bearing this honor. It will be universally conceded that in General Pope's case the high honor has been fairly and fully earned.

Rubber Clothing. — Prominent among the ex[illegible]hibitors this year is the "Rubber Clothing Com[illegible]pany" of New York, who have recently opened a branch house at 642 Sacramento street of this city, under the management of Joseph Fraser. This is the first house devoted to the sale of rub[illegible]ber goods exclusively, that has ever been estab[illegible]lished in this city, and the assortment of goods displayed at their stand in the pavilion comprises every variety of article to which the multiform uses of India Rubber and gutta percha have hith[illegible]erto given shape. It is doubtful whether any in[illegible]vention of the present century has proved of great[illegible]er practical benefit or has been applied to greater variety of uses than that of Goodyear. Through his vulcanizing process, the crude rubber has been wrought into a substance which, within the past ten years, has been applied to the manufacture of almost every conceivable article of utility or orna[illegible]ment. Indeed there seems to be no limit to the uses to which it may be applied. The visitor to the fair will find among the articles exhibited by Mr. Fraser, cloth, silk, and alpaca rubber coats, wagon and piano covers, life-preservers, saddle bags, curry combs, bed pans, spittoons, chest ex[illegible]panders, pillows, door springs, surgical instru[illegible]ments, napkin rings, pens, pencils and stationery articles of all kinds, besides toys, fancy articles and jewelry of every description and of the finest quality. The application of rubber to the manufac[illegible]ture of jewelry is new and promises to be one of the most important of its varied uses. Nothing can be more elegant than the jewelry, hair combs and toilet articles made out of this article, and as the acids of the rubber will not permit the use of any metal less than 18 carat gold, the purchaser stands in no danger of getting "bogus jewelry" instead of the genuine article. The display at this stand will richly repay inspection by the vis[illegible]itor to the fair. — S. F. Bulletin.

The Andersonville Prison. — The following is an extract from a letter received from Captain J. M. Moore, A. Q. M., in charge of the party sent to Andersonville, Georgia, to lay out the soldiers cemetery there. The letter is dated July 26th.

> We are encamped within one hundred yards of the prison pen of Andersonville and it is, in the fullest sense of the term, nothing more than a pen — a human pen, wherein thousands of our soldiers were huddled together in an inclosure less than 100 yards long and 100 yards wide, where they were exposed to the rays of an almost tropical sun and the shivering winds of winter. More than fifteen thousand men, worn out by exposure and suffering, are buried here. This prison pen should never be permitted to be destroyed, but should stand until its stockades fall to the ground by de[illegible]cay, that unbelievers in the North may look on this ground and convince themselves of the inhu[illegible]man cruelty perpetrated by the rebels upon our prisoners. There are about 14,000 head-boards yet to letter.

The author of the recent high flight of imagina[illegible]tion in the city news columns of the New York Tribune, is Mr. Junius Brown. He is the man who saw the contortions of the snakes, the boil[illegible]ing struggles of whales and alligators, and the combats of bears and tigers in the conflagration of Barnum's Museum.

The Gem of the Toilet, the world says is Sozodont. It renders the teeth pearly white, gives to the breath a fragrant odor, extinguishing the ill humors which usually flow from a bad and neglected set of teeth. Sozodont is so convenient, and produces a sensation at once so delightful, that makes it a pleasure to use it.

Brandreth's Pills. Their Qualities. In small and repeated doses the effect of Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills is to increase the activity of the secreting and excreting organs. The slimy discharged becomes more liquid and contains a larger proportion of bile. The operation of the extraordinary medicine is [illegible] place [illegible] the membranes of the lungs, of the eyes, and all the membranes become thinner; the skin becomes damper, and at the same time warmer where too cold, and cooler if too warm. So that Brandreth's Pills seem to vitalize and promote excretions generally. In large doses, say from five to ten Pills, they act as a powerful purgative, clearing the bowels first of their contents and then acting upon the internal organs, cleansing them of slime, mucus, or any collections not required for their healthy action. Thus the action of Brandreth's Pills is what is required to bring about that state in all the organs which results in their full restoration to health. The blood vessels, as well as the blood, are thus restored to perfect purity and vigor.

Notice.

SEALED PROPOSALS IN DUPLICATE WILL BE received at the office of the undersigned at Fort Vancouver, W. T., until 12 o'clock M. Saturday, September 16th, 1865, for furnishing (174) One Hundred and Seventy four head of BEEF CATTLE, for the U. S. Subsistence Department. Said Cattle to be of good and merchantable quality. (50) Fifty head to be delivered at Fort Dalles, Oregon, on or before the 22d day of September, 1865, and the balance to be delivered at the same place before the 30th day of September, 1865. Each Beef to be weighed in the Government Scales, and from the gross the net weight to be ascertained as per Par. 33, Subsistence Regulations, June 6th 1863.

Each bid required to be accompanied by a bond with at least two sureties in the sum of Two Thousand Dollars for the faithful performance of the proposals contained in the bid, in case the bid is accepted.

No bid will be received for a less quantity than 50 head, and no bid can be entertained unless both Principal and Sureties can give undoubted proof of their loyalty to the U. S. Government.

Bidders must state the price per pound, in U. S. gold coin.

The contract will be subject to the approval of the Department Commander.

The undersigned reserves to himself the right to reject any or all bids that he may deem unreasonable or for other sufficient cause.

Bids to be addressed to the Acting Chief Commissary of Subsistence, Fort Vancouver, and endorsed thus: "Proposals for Beef Cattle."

WISTAR'S BALSAM

—OF—

WILD CHERRY!

HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY

HALF A CENTURY,

WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING

Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the

THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST,

INCLUDING EVEN

CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms — a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded [illegible] in the whole catalogue. The power of "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value tenfold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered. The unparalleled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these: —

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas; for the fame and virtue of Wistar's Balsam have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

Henry S. Foote on the Condition of the South

The Montreal papers publish a long letter from H. S. Foote. It is addressed to the Hon. A. O. P. Nicholson. He says:

Slavery in North America is clearly now at an end, and its future revival is just as impossible as it would be to call up the mouldering dead from the graves where they sleep and to endue them anew with their former vitality and vigor. The sooner we of the South fully realize this fact the better it will be for ourselves and for our whole country. True, it is that even as late as last December it was possible, had proper efforts been made for peace with those at that time in power in Washington city, to bring the war then raging to an end upon the basis of reconstruction, gradual emancipation, universal amnesty, and a reasonable compensation to the owners of slaves in the South. But the golden moment was allowed to pass away unembraced; the same mysterious judicial blindness which had enveloped the faculties of our Southern political leaders for fifteen years before, still hung like a gloomy pall about their organs of intellectual vision and now we have at last disastrously fallen from our high estate and find ourselves firmly enlocked in the grasp of those who have become our veritable conquerors. We have been compelled to surrender at discretion. We have lost all control over our fate. We are utterly powerless. Our armies are in a state of dispersion. Our ships no longer navigate the deep. Our fiscal sources are exhausted. Our rights of person and property are destroyed, or in a state of abeyance. Our most precious franchises are in the hands of those whom Jehovah and the civilized nations of the earth have allowed to achieve our ruin. Nor have we now the least ground for hope of being raised to a better condition hereafter, except we promptly and energetically pursue the course which the progress of events has so plainly marked out for us. We must, in order to be free ourselves, agree never hereafter to interfere with the freedom of others. We must amend our State Constitutions as soon as possible, and embody therein our consent that the four millions of bondmen and bondwomen heretofore existing upon Southern soil shall be henceforth as free in all respects as those of the white race who lately dominated over them; in other words, we must formally recognize the state of things already existing, and bind ourselves to do nothing to disturb it in all future time. We must in order to assure our own return to liberty and happiness, not only recognize the colored denizens of the South as now free, but we must allow them the same means of preserving their freedom that we ourselves desire to possess. They must be freedmen in fact as well as in name. We must consent to their being invested with the elective franchise; and this must be done, too, no matter what cherished notions we may entertain in regard to the mental inferiority of those whom some of us have heretofore regarded as the doomed posterity of Ham. Nor can we now safely talk about carrying them through a course of special tutelage and probation such as I understand you to recommend, ere we make them our own equals before the law of the land. These are not at all matters for our regulation, but are to be attended to by those who hold in their hands exclusively the sword and the purse of the nation. I tell you, my dear sir, and through you, I wish to urge upon the whole mass of my fellow countrymen of the South, that these things must be done by us, else our States will not be allowed to have Representatives and Senators in Congress, or even be permitted, without molestation, to administer their own municipal concerns. This, I say to you emphatically, is a settled matter; it is res judicata, and there is no appeal for us in the case. We may regret this state of things as much as it is possible for us to do; we may bewail it as eloquently as we choose; we may reason against irrevocable destiny with all the logical power of an Aristotle, a Bacon, or a Locke; and still the irremovable fact will stare us in the face; we must consent to the carrying into effect the compact existing between those who now wield all the governing power of the country and those whom, before God and man they have solemnly taken under their protection and patronage. Indeed I do not at all over-state the case. I have sought information on this subject in all quarters where I thought it was possible to obtain it, and the result of my inquiries are before you.

Let me now bring to your notice one or two additional views of this matter, which, I am sure, cannot fail of their effect upon a mind as healthfully co[illegible] as I know yours to be. The people of the North are not willing to [illegible] the South with the exclusive [illegible] of this affair because they believe, and we [illegible] not possibly convince them to the contrary, that should they permit us to [illegible] the two Houses of the Federal Congress before we shall have carried into operation fully the arrangements which they have heretofore [illegible] in behalf of the colored race, we should afterward either openly resist the execution of the compact or at least attempt to evade its provisions, and some imprudent movements which [illegible] recently occurred in the South have greatly [illegible], I fear, to aggravate this unfortunate feeling of distrust. Moreover the people of the North are almost the exclusive holders of the bonds which represent the vast debt which has grown out of the prosecution of the war, and they are apprehensive that if the exercise of the elective franchise is limited to the white population of the South, the whole voting power of our section may be hereafter wielded in favor of repudiating that debt. We shall never be able to satisfy them that this debt will be safe without the counterpoise of negro suffrage. The feelings of the whole bond-holding class are deeply excited on this subject, and nothing can give them satisfaction but the formal adoption of the Constitutional Amendment propounded. Upon the whole then I must confess that I entirely agree with the enlightened and conscientious editor of the New York Tribune in holding that the true policy, for the South as well as for the North, is embraced in these words which are evidently fast becoming stereotyped upon the whole liberal mind of the country—universal suffrage and universal amnesty. The exercise of a noble magnanimity toward the unfortunate South such as a Julius Cæsar, a Marcus Aurelius or a William III of England would not have been ashamed to [illegible] is now being advocated by many of the best intellects in the North and more sound and manly reasoning and touching and elevated rhetoric are being expended in our behalf by our new friends there than any occasion has called forth for many years past. Let us, I beseech you, meet this general and unexpected display in a kind and becoming manner. Let us cast aside as unworthy of us and of the great interests which it is our business [illegible] all silly and affected fastidiousness, all false pride, all scheming and selfish dilatoriness, and embrace the present opportunity of reinstating ourselves in the dearly prized rights of American citizenship and in building up anew the strength and unity and true honor of [illegible] loved America. Our true friends and our future allies in the North are those who are now pleading in our behalf for justice and for a kindly and politic forbearance as to the past. If we fail not to be equal to the demands of the present critical exigency we shall in a few short years at most find ourselves once more happy and safe and prosperous. For I am not among those who at all doubt the complete success of the new system of labor now being introduced in the South, nor do I agree with those who apprehend any great injury of any kind as likely to arise from the proposed extension of the elective franchise to both classes of our Southern population alike. I doubt not at all that with proper judgment, diligence and thrift Southern plantations will be as prosperous under the new system of agricultural labor as they were under the old one, and I am decidedly of opinion that there will be as little of fraud and outrage as in our [illegible] hereafter in the Southern States [illegible] upon the whole as [illegible] and beneficial [illegible] of the right of suffrage, as there has ever heretofore been. Demagoguism and corruption will not be more likely to [illegible] among us than in former days, and [illegible] it is a fixed fact that persons of African [illegible] are hereafter to be free, it will be far better to make friends and neighbors and brethren of them than to retain them in our midst as Pariahs.

Believe [illegible] that true interest lies in assimilating our whole South[illegible] population in political rights, sentiment, in mental culture, in a just and affectionate neighborship and in a true and loyal brotherhood. We have to deal with a race whom we know to be [illegible] docile and readily subject to all high and commanding influences, and it will be greatly our own fault if we do not [illegible] with them in the relation now in process [illegible] far better than we ever did before. At any rate this experiment is proposed to us under circumstances which do not permit us safely to decline its trial, and we shall be worse than [illegible] if we reject the opportunity [illegible] to us of at once escaping from the fearful domination of military power, and returning once more to the [illegible] right of trial by jury, the regular administration of justice by civil tribunals and all the [illegible] arrangements known to a state of republican freedom.

Before I conclude permit me to say that here in this beautiful city I daily and hourly witness the friendly association personal and official, of gentlemen who less than twenty years ago were arrayed against each other in a political contest, [illegible] war. This happy effect has been produced by the patriotic submission of the defeated Canadian insurgents, and the liberal and Christian policy of the government, which not only granted a general amnesty but generously remunerated even "denounced rebels" for losses incurred in the conflict. What a glorious example for the emulation of our country!

Hoping that you will find in this crude and hasty effusion some ideas which you will not altogether disapprove, and that many years of health and happiness and public usefulness are yet in reserve for you, I remain, your friend and fellow citizen,

H. S. FOOTE.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.—The yearly interest on the public debt, as it stood on the 1st of July, is in round figures, one hundred and forty millions of dollars. This is the exact measure of the burden which it lays on the labor and industry of the country. It would perhaps be more satisfactorily understood if the principal of the debt were kept out of sight entirely, since the interest is the only shape in which, for the present, it has a practical bearing.

The payment of the debt is the troublesome idea to most people. They see clearly enough how to pay the interest, but an indefinable mass of something poised over their heads and threatening to fall every moment is the terror associated with the principal. As to any positive and sensible effect on the economy of the country, our national debt, in its total mass, is of no account whatever. We do not deal with it in the total, but only with that annual portion of it which we are able to pay without imposing a weight of taxes needlessly prejudicial to the general industry. When we get over the requirement of additional expenses for military purposes we shall add ten millions of dollars to the yearly tax for liquidation, and that will be sufficient to extinguish the debt. For example: If we could stop where we are, with annual interest of one hundred and forty millions, we should raise one hundred and fifty millions a year, and that would be the hight, breadth, depth and circumference of our burden—not a cent more, now or at any future time, unless we had a new war.

Then, where are we? The estimate of all other expenses of the Government for the year ending July 30, 1866, is under fifty millions of dollars. We thus arrive at the comfortable conclusion that a total revenue of two hundred millions a year would be our entire burden if we should keep the debt where it is. With the present rate of taxes the estimate of receipts for the year ending June 30, 1866, is three hundred and ninety-six millions of dollars. We might, therefore, this day cut down our taxes just one-half and go on our way rejoicing.

There is a supplementary clause to this show which makes it more than probable that the rate of taxation may be reduced one-half within the space of two or three years at farthest. The above estimate of receipts is founded on the Northern States alone. When the Southern States are established in successful labor, the rate can be reduced in the proportion of the increased national income.

On the whole, we feel safe in assuming that we shall settle at a yearly taxation not one dollar above two hundred millions. That is the measure of the entire burden.—New York Evening Post.

THE FUTURE RESIDENCE OF GENERAL GRANT.—The Milwaukee News learns that "the rumor that General Grant was about to fix his residence in Philadelphia appears to have been unfounded. The house given him by the Philadelphians was only accepted upon the condition that it should not interfere with his purpose to return to his old home at Galena. We saw a friend of his from the latter place lately, who informs us that seven citizens of Galena have purchased there and presented to the General a splendid residence, completely furnished from basement to attic. A house in Boston contributed all the carpets. There was a time when the highest ambition of General Grant was to be Mayor of Galena, that he might secure the building of a sidewalk from his house to the railroad depot. It will be gratifying to the General to notice that the aforesaid sidewalk is now completed."

It is understood that the General will shortly visit his home, and the citizens are making extensive preparations to give the hero a fitting reception. The Galena Gazette thus exhorts the people to unite in the grand ovation:

"Lieutenant General Grant will soon visit his home in Galena. He does not belong to Galena alone, but to the whole nation—to the whole world of humanity, who admire true greatness and love republican institutions. He went out from us a humble citizen, with no pretensions above others; he returns a conqueror of the most powerful rebellion that was ever built on so bad a cause. We bespeak for him the heartiest greeting. Let it be universal. Let it be graced by the presence of every man, woman and child in the country. For a day let all labor be omitted. Come in towns, in neighborhoods, by school districts, by societies, by families, by individuals. Let a grateful people give full play to the warmth of their gratitude. Come in all manner of conveyances, with every demonstration and insignia that will express your hearty joy. Let the hero of the age see how a patriotic people can honor their benefactor," who has saved the nation.

THE SUFFRAGE QUESTION BY GEN. COX.—General Cox, the Union Candidate for Governor of Ohio, has published a long letter in which he fully defines his position as a candidate, and gives his private views on the question of negro suffrage. The latter briefly stated are that the white and colored people of the South cannot live together as equals, politically, and he therefore favors a peaceable separation of the two races, on Southern soil—the blacks in their separate condition, to enjoy all political rights. He does not propose however, to permit his private opinions to prevent him from giving a cordial support to such measures as Congress and the President may deem best for the final adjustment and settlement of the difficult questions that have grown out of the war.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Massachusetts sent [illegible] 700 men to the war. The leading New England State fights on the battle field for country and freedom as sturdily as she ever upheld her principles in the arena of debate. The sons of Massachusetts, like those of all our loyal States, seal with their blood their devotion to country and to the everlasting rights of man.

THE REBEL SLIDELL.—A New Orleans correspondent says that the property of John Slidell, comprising eight hundred and forty two lots and squares of ground with stores, dwelling houses and a banking house, were sold for $100,410. Before the war it was estimated at $800,000. Had the war not taken place it is estimated that Slidell would have been worth $2,000,000.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.—The receipts from internal revenue for the month of July foot up the [illegible] sum of $20,000,000. No such amount has been received in [illegible] month [illegible] the present year. It is estimated that the receipts for the months of August and September will be about $30,000,000, or about $1,000,000 per day.

Many persons complain that they cannot find words for their thoughts, when the real trouble is that they cannot find thoughts for their words.

Volk, the artist who executed the statue of Stonewall Jackson, is looking for [illegible] to pay him for it.

The St. Louis directory this year chronicles [illegible] names, and the city claims a population of 210,000.

[illegible] books sold in New Orleans for about thirty five cents a volume—six hundred of them.

New fashioned Unionism in South Carolina is said to be very like the old article of secession.

The Jailor of Andersonville

[illegible] of the New York [illegible]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August [illegible].—Captain Henry Wirtz, late Keeper of the Andersonville Prison, whose trial at Washington has been but recently postponed [illegible] by the authorities [illegible] through the city [illegible] week [illegible] the National Capital. [illegible] the chief instrument of the infamous tortures and barbarities systematically inflicted [illegible] that accursed den [illegible].

This [illegible] was formerly a resident of Louisville and in the employ of Dr. Caspari, a highly respectable [illegible]. At that time [illegible] a water cure establishment at the corner of [illegible] and Second streets. Wirtz had charge of the baths, and to some extent the books of the establishment, being authorized to make out and collect bills that were due. Dr. Caspari represents him as a fawning, cringing [illegible] fellow at this time, with a sneaking look as if afraid to meet the scrutiny of an honest face. He did not, however, suspect him of dishonesty at first, but presently he found his accounts running short. Moneys that should be received were not. The matter was carefully investigated, and the result found to be that Wirtz had for a considerable time been appropriating what he had received to his own use, and making false entries in the books to cover up the theft he was practicing. The Doctor taxed Wirtz with the fraudulent acts. The man confessed, and without other punishment being inflicted on him he was peremptorily dismissed from the establishment.

The fellow took his way to Mississippi, to the plantation of a former patient of Dr. Caspari at his water cure here, by the name of Marshall, and putting on a bold face, stated that he had been a homœpathic doctor, and proposed to settle in Mississippi to practice his profession. The story was not distrusted. The planter's family received him cordially, aided him with their influence, which was important in that section, and the consequence was that he fixed himself in the neighborhood to doctor people who, there as elsewhere, often mistake plausibility for skill and acquired a lucrative practice, so his acquaintances in Louisville were astonished to hear. Beyond this, nothing had been heard for several years of Dr. Henry Wirtz.

On Sunday, two or three weeks ago, a carriage drove to the door of Dr. Caspari and a message was received that a person in the carriage desired to see the doctor. On answering the summons Dr. Caspari found in the carriage, in charge of one of our gallant Captains, a rebel prisoner, wan, haggard and woe begone in appearance, wrapped up in a tattered gray blanket, which only partially concealed a more tattered condition underneath. The man requested the doctor to give him some decent clothing, stating that he had just come in from Nashville and was a rebel prisoner on his way to Washington. Dr. Caspari, who is one of the staunchest Union men in Louisville and the kindest hearted man in the world, directed the clothing to be furnished at once, but supposed the prisoner had mistaken his house, perhaps, for that of a rebel sympathizer. The prisoner then said "You don't recollect me, doctor?" The reply was in the negative. "Don't you remember Henry Wirtz, that lived with you and tended the bath's fountain years ago? I am Henry Wirtz, lately the keeper of the Andersonville Prison, now bound to Washington to be tried for my life." The recognition was perfect, but the good doctor stood aghast at the information. He had never heard a syllable of his former employe being promoted to the post he so long and so ignobly filled, and to meet him now, under these circumstances, astonished him beyond measure. The prisoner explained, further, that he was brought, after his capture, through Chattanooga, that there he was recognized by some soldiers, who laid violent hands on him, beat him, broke his arm (he carried it now in a sling), nearly tore off all his clothes, and but for the energetic efforts of his escort and some guards present, they would have taken his life on the spot.

The wretched man received from the Doctor's humanity a thorough refit: shoes, stockings, shirt, pants, vest, coat, even a hat, to replace the fragments he wore, and with many thanks was whirled away, for the time a happier, if not a better man. When he comes before the Court people, associating his office with the atrocities perpetrated under his eye and rule, will look upon him as a monster culprit, whose crimes should be visited with the swiftest and sharpest penalty known to the law. But as the mere instrument of the authorities that placed him there, and under whose orders he acted, wherein is he more criminal or more deserving of reprobation than they? A [illegible] is a very convenient thing.

But to the minds of ordinary people, the odium and the guilt, due for the treatment of our poor, suffering, starving heroes, in those Southern hells, should and will forever attach less to the vulgar agents through whom those barbarities were carried into effect, than to those who issued the orders, and who by issuing other orders which they did not, might have put an end at once to the infernal cruelty.

THE NEW YORK ROWDY.—If there is a greater ruffian and more malignant poltroon than the full blossomed New York rowdy, I do not know him. He does not seem to have a redeeming trait; he hates everybody and everything that observes or savors of morality, order or decency. Ignorant, coarse, licentious, thoroughly depraved, he never misses an opportunity to indulge his worst passions, and is all the more bold and unscrupulous because of the ease with which he escapes punishment. He is usually seen with a number of congenial spirits, and made daring by the strength of his companions, he stops at no excesses. He is a power in the municipal government, and carries more influence and controls more votes at elections than any half dozen of estimable and exemplary citizens. There seems no mode of suppressing him but killing him, and I think if a vigilance committee were to hang a hundred of these shameless fellows the example would be salutary. At present I see no other mode of effecting a much needed reform.—N. Y. Correspondence.

A RECUSANT POST OFFICE CLERK.—Some months ago a Richmond, Va., correspondent in speaking of certain persons in that city who had been connected with the rebel government and who had signified their desire to return to their allegiance under the old flag, alluded to Henry St. George Offutt of Virginia—First Assistant Postmaster General of the Confederacy, as one whose great experience in the business of the Post Office Department at Washington, where he held the post of Chief Clerk to the Auditor at the opening of the rebellion, might secure him not only pardon but restoration to place under the Government. Whatever may be the claims of Mr. Offutt to a place in the Department on the score of ability he is not likely to have a pardon forced upon him right away. A special dispatch says that Offutt has returned to Washington and applied for pardon, but the Attorney-General has been notified that large balances received by him for waste paper, while he was in office under the Federal Government, have never been accounted for.

ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP GEORGE N. SANDERS.—A dispatch from Montreal to the Leader of August 8th, says: Another attempt has been made to carry off George N. Sanders. O'Leary was offered $10,000 to assist in the enterprise. He agreed to it, and then went and informed the Chief of Police of it. On Monday O'Leary called at Sanders' house, with a carriage driven by one of the conspirators. O'Leary told Sanders that the Recorder wanted to see him at his house on the road. Three men then jumped into the carriage, knocked O'Leary down, and hand cuffed Sanders. Twenty of the police gave chase, captured two of the conspirators, and are in pursuit of the others.

KENTUCKY ELECTIONS.—The [illegible] furnishes the following estimates of Congressional majorities: First District, Trimble (Democrat) 1,000; Second District, Gen. Yeaman (Union) probably elected; Third District, [illegible] chances even between Mowry and Grider; Fourth District, Harding, (pro slavery) 1,000; Fifth District, Rousseau, (pro amendment) 1,000; Sixth District, Smith, (pro amendment) 800; Seventh District, Shanklin (pro slavery) 2,000; Eighth District, Randall (pro amendment) 1,000; Ninth District, McKee, (pro amendment) 1,000.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing all [illegible] of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.
